THIS program offers a general survey of the forces making for world progress, as interpreted by scholars who are recognized authorities in their respective fields. The knowledge made available through these lectures forms the cultural background necessary for any true understanding of the larger movements affecting the world today.

While each of the five subjects is treated as a unit, the full course is most desirable for the sake of the perspective thereby afforded on the nature of present-day social problems and possibilities.

The lectures are held in the Auditorium of the new Roerich Museum, Riverside Drive at 103rd Street, and are open to the public. Those desiring course tickets may send their Registration (see last page of this announcement) either to WORLD UNITY FOUNDATION or ROERICH MUSEUM. Lectures begin promptly at 8.30 P. M. and are followed by informal discussion.

The preceding program represents the fourth annual lecture course of the Institute of World Unity, previously held during the summer season.
