

Seventeenth Annual Convention

Hindustan Association of America, Inc.

Hindustan Banquet

Saturday, Dec. 29th, 1928

Seven P. M.

National Rooms
International House
500 Riverside Drive
New York

... Maha-Bhojana ...

Delhi - Polau

Phul - Kabab

Dal - Barisal

Curry Kadala

Tapti - Bhaji

Salad - Malayalam

Mohan - Dilbahar

Kaba

... Programme ...

Toastmaster - Prof. S. L. Joshi

SPEAKERS

Mrs. Harry E. Edmonds
Prof. A. V. Williams Jackson
Dr. Charles D. Hurrey
Mrs. Sarojini Naidu
Mr. C. Joseph Chacko
Mr. Hemendra K. Rakhit

MESSAGES

President James R. Angell, of Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
President George B. Cutten
of Colgate University
Mr. Harry E. Edmonds,
Director of International House
President William H. P. Faunce, of Brown University, Providence, R. I.
Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve, of Barnard College
President Frank J. Goodnow, of The Johns Hopkins University
President John G. Hibben, of Princeton University
President David Kinley, of University of Illinois, Urbana.
President Frederic B. Robinson, of The College of the City of N. Y.
Etc. Etc. Etc.

Love, if I knew
How to pluck from the mirrors of the dew
The image of the sunrise, rob the tint
Of living blood
From the wild lily and pomegranate bud,
Defraud the halcyon of its purple glint,
The sea-wind of its wing,
The sea-wave of its silver murmuring,

If I could teach
My meaning to be severed from my speech,
Breath from my being, vision from my eyes,
And deftly part
The tremor of my heart-beat from my heart,
Perchance for one vague hour I might devise
Some secret miracle
To be delivered from your poignant spell.

You permeate
With such profound, supreme and intimate Knowledge, possession, power, my Life's domain!

O are you not
The very text and title of my thought,
The very pattern of my joy and pain?
Shall even Death set free
My soul from such intricate Unity?

THE ARCHIVE OF SAROJINI NAIDU
NICHOLAS
ROERICH
MUSEUM